Race Reports

Run for the Roses: Elizabeth Werner, race director, is looking into having the Run for the Roses at Trinity Baptist Church on Six Forks Road for the next two years. There is already a certified course there, plenty of parking, and a gym. The 2022 Run for the Roses had a profit of $678, not including pending receipt of a City of Raleigh grant, and $1342 was donated by the runners to the race charities (Four Paws and a Wake-up-NC and Team Red, White, and Blue NC).

NCRC Classic: Bill Parquet presented a detailed report on the NCRC classic (see attached sheet). So far 225 have registered for the Half Marathon and 108 for the 10K.
