Brad gave a detailed report on the race. Not including income from Friday registrations or the charge for the Wake County EMS ambulance, NCRC had a preliminary return of $330. One Red Shoe Realty is donating the water. The board approved $1,150 in donations from the race, including $583.96 from participants and $41.04 from race proceeds to Triangle Rails to Trails Conservancy and $150 from race proceeds to the White Oak Foundation. Separate from race proceeds, the board approved NCRC donations of $200 each to Second Chance Pet Adoptions and Imagination Library. Each had an information booth at the race (in memory of Susan Karnatz). Leftover bananas and apples were given to the Raleigh Rescue Mission.

Elizabeth Warner reported on the 2023 Run for the Roses. The race will be February 12, 2023. Several locations for the race were suggested since Dix Park will not be available for the race. Elizabeth Werner suggested E. Carroll Joyner Park in Wake Forest. Susan Hatch suggested Wakefield High School and Brad Broyles suggested WRAL Soccer Park at Perry Creek Road. In 2022 each of charities (Four Paws and a Wake-up and Team Red, White and Blue) received $2,000.
